

AP Psychology Summer Assignment

Students must keep a journal this summer of their observations, perceptions, sensory experiences, something learned, something memorized, dreams, a problem solved, a decision made, something about their personality they discovered, a stress they experienced. These will be random entries throughout the summer. It should be kept in a journal type book, (composition book etc.). There should be nothing in the journal that can't be shared.